

The Cherry Street Art Fest

Keith Adams's beautiful wood turnings have been popular items at the Cherry Street Art Fest.

Artists at the Cherry Street Art Fest offer three-dimensional artwork such as pottery, sculpture, glass, clay, and basketry.

Two-dimensional artwork includes watercolors, pastels, oils, acrylics, and photography, among others.

The Cherry Street Art Fest is a one-day fair on Sat., Aug. 7, 2010 in Watseka, Illinois—just a short 90 minutes south of Chicago—on the tree-lined lawn surrounding the picturesque old Iroquois County Court House. It is held in conjunction with the annual Sugar Creek Symphony & Song opera and classical music festival.

The Cherry Street Art Fest adds to the festivities by offering high-quality, original arts and crafts to the more than 1,000 culture tourists who flock to the festival each year.

Now in its eighth year, the festival will host world-class singers and musicians the weekend of Aug. 6–8.

For more on the Cherry Street Art Fest, please go to www.sugarcreekfestival.org, where you'll also find information on musical and other events for the weekend.

Sign up today for the Cherry Street Art Fest! We welcome your participation!
